

In the event of a work stoppage by Canada Post, please be advised we may have to have some slight charges added to orders placed based on our free shipping policy.

In many cases we use Canada Post for fast reliable and economical service.

As of Sept 20, 2018, we have ceased using Canada post and as such will advise any customer of our web orders who are impacted of the additional cost of their shipments.

We can continue to ship using alternate methods.

The alternative would be to hold orders until the dispute is settled and then ship. We do not want parcels to be stuck in their system in the event of a job action. Thank you for your understanding.
